

ABSTRACT

An instruction buffer of the present invention includes a sequence of instructions arranged in an order determined beforehand, and a buffer including entries arranged in a preselected order for storing the sequence of instructions. Any one of the instructions stored in any one of the entries designated by a low entry number is prior, in order, to another instruction stored in another entry designated by a high entry number.

2025 RELEASE UNDER E.O. 14176